

To the Pastor ^{Officers} & Members of the Presbyterian
Church at Jacksonville Ala.

It is the ^{writer's} ~~writer's~~ privilege ~~and pleasure~~ of the ~~writer's~~ ^{writer's} to communicate to you the following pleasurable fact: On the morning of the 8th Sept. Inst. a letter was received by the undersigned, from which we quote: "Enclosed find fifty dollars with which you will please ^{purchase} a Communion Service for the Presbyterian Church," ++ "Use your own discretion as to the time and manner of purchasing & donating the service. Be kind and make no effort to discover the identity of the donor". (Signed) "Presbyterian".

In compliance with the request of the generous donor an elegant communion service has been purchased, through the kind and courteous Agency of Mr. J. T. Darter, in whose care the "Service" is subject to the order of the Officers of the Church.

How literally scriptural this gift has been - "Set not thy left hand to know what thy right hand doeth."

Will not the Church prayerfully unite in the heartfelt wish, that the giver of this precious
