Colonel Ed Caldwell,
Jacksonville, Alabama.

Dear Colonel Ed:

Greetings and salutations from one of your boys who has not had the pleasure and honor of seeing and talking to you for several years but who considers you one of his best friends, in fact, loves you devotedly and spends much time with you in thought.

Dad tells me that you enjoyed a little celebration on September 13th, the day when you became eighty-one years young, and even though I am a little late I want to add my good wishes for your continued happiness.

All of your life, Colonel Ed, you have been a fine man, true blue, with a beautiful appreciation of the real philosophy of life and, accordingly, you have brought peace, happiness and contentment to those who have been privileged to know you. It is my sincerest hope that some of these days I may be so situated that I may spend some time each day with you and my dear Dad and, in so doing, be thrilled and inspired by the fellowship and the principles of life that you both have such a marvelous knowledge of.

In the meantime, I will be thinking about you and wishing for you happiness and contentment complete.

Respectfully,

Charles Bondurant
